PROFESSOR SERVES ON PANELS IN SALVADOR, BAHIA
OLIVE-HARVEY COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS

that Olive-Harvey College's African American Studies Professor, Mr. Harold Rogers, was selected to speak on two separate panels sponsored by the InterAmerican Union Institute for Racial Equality (INSPIRE) in Salvador, Bahia, on September 9 and 10, 1998. Over 60 union leaders were in attendance representing 95% of the workers in Brazil. The panels addressed by Professor Harold Rogers included, "Union Initiatives to Combat Racial Discrimination on the Job in the USA" and "The U.S. Labor Market, Collective Bargaining and the Conditions of African Americans and Women in the USA." INSPIRE was formed in 1995 to evaluate racism in Brazil's workplace. Professor Harold Rogers has also been invited to speak at the 4th Regional Seminar to be held later this year.

Respectfully submitted,

Wayne D. Watson
Chancellor
