ARCHITECTURE DEMONSTRATION AND CAMPUS TOUR
OLIVE-HARVEY COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS

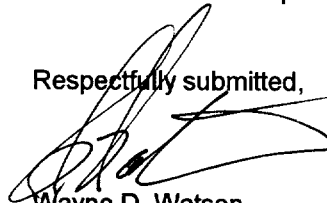

that the Chicago Architecture Foundation is dedicated to advancing public interest in architecture and design; and that through one of its Youth Education Programs, "The Newhouse Architecture Competition," it provides opportunities for high school students to learn career skills in architecture and design; and that on July 21, 1999, for the second year, President Lawrence M. Cox welcomed 30 students serving internships through The Newhouse Architecture Competition. They were given a presentation and hands-on demonstration in ~~Olive-Harvey~~ College's Computer-Aided Design (CAD) laboratory by architecture professor, John Ragoma; and that the students, (the majority from the Chicago Public Schools), were also given an orientation and tour of the campus. These student-interns plan to further their education in architecture.

Respectfully submitted,
