CANON DIGITAL EQUIPMENT TRAINING PROGRAM
KENNEDY-KING COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

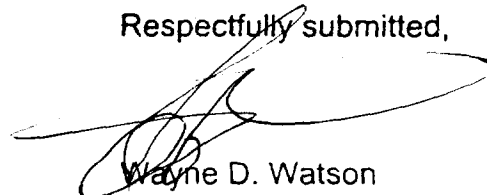

REPORTS

that the Digital Equipment Technical Training Program is a non-credit course offered to select Graphic Communications students funded through the Continuing Education Department. Upon completion of the six week training module that began on May 29, 2001, students received a certificate and possible job placement; and that the partner entities include Kennedy-King College's Continuing Education Division, Reprographic Services Department, Graphic Communications Department, GraohicLink and Cannon Business Solution (formerly Ambassador Canon Business Solutions, Inc.)

that the program evolved from a proposal introduced by Nancy Bellew, Director of Strategic Alliance for CCC to institute a pilot program that integrated Canon's career development initiative into an education curriculum. Steve Ballard, Director of Reprographics with the assistance of Daaiyah Ziyad, RS graphic technician augmented the existing Kennedy-King College Graphic Communications 108 Work Cooperative Course to include the Canon initiative.

Respectfully submitted,

Wayne D. Watson
Chancellor
