MALCOLM X COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS

that twenty Malcolm X College students and staff were invited by Tyrha M. Lindsey, Regional Events Manager, to attend the 2002 Universal Sisters: Inspiration for your Health and Soul. Universal Sisters is an annual event sponsored, by Speaking of Women's Health, designed to reach and inspire women of color. A nationally known organization, SWH believes that the psychology of women's health and education is really about women speaking to women and actively learning about issues that are vital to their health and vitality. Developed in 1996 as a one-time fundraiser for the Public Broadcasting System (PBS), it has grown into a national foundation with events in more than 30 cities in 2002 with national health initiatives on diabetes, heart health, skin health and osteoporosis. The 2002 event was held at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare and was co-sponsored locally with Northwestern Memorial Hospital; and further, that Malcolm X College students and staff who received complimentary tickets valued at over $2000 reported that the day was both exciting and educational.
