DARTMOUTH'S HOOD MUSEUM ACQUIRES ART PROFESSOR'S WORK
TRUMAN COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS that the Hood Museum of Art at Dartmouth College has acquired a sculpture by Truman College art instructor Amir Nour; and that Prof. Nour created Dismuke in 1972 after a brief visit to his homeland, Sudan, during which he was stunned by the number of starving children; and that the sculpture is a tribute to one young boy, named Dismuke, who inspired it.

Respectfully submitted,

Wayne D. Watson
Chancellor
