THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS

that a group of 4 students and 2 faculty from Dudley College in Birmingham, England visited Harold Washington College from April 3-10, 2005. The visiting students participated in a variety of classes. They particularly enjoyed a prearranged class discussion with Ivanhoe Tejada's Education 101 class. A lively discussion revolved around the similarities and differences between the British and American education systems, and that the students also participated in field trips to the Robie House in Hyde Park, Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio in Oak Park, Art Institute, and North Michigan Avenue. The group was thoroughly engaged in discussing cultural differences that they observed and there were great discussions with a variety of HWC students.
