HAROLD WASHINGTON COLLEGE SPEECH TEAM
ATTENDS PHI RHO PI NATIONAL TOURNAMENT
HAROLD WASHINGTON COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS that Harold Washington College Speech Team attended the Phi Rho Pi National Tournament on April 14-20, 2008 in St. Charles, Illinois along with 120 community colleges and about 500 students from across the country; and that the competition was stiff, but the students brought back top honors with four major awards. The following students were competitors: LaKeesha Harris in Prose and Dramatic Interpretation; Manuela Yao in Prose and Dramatic Interpretation; and Ryan DeGooyer in Prose and Impromptu Speaking. Ryan advanced in her events earning a Bronze in Prose Interpretation and a Gold in Impromptu Speaking; and Harold Washington College received National Champion Sweepstakes Awards in their division with a Silver in Individual Events, and a Bronze in Overall Sweepstakes.

Respectfully submitted,
