STUDENTS STUDY, REPORT ON AIR QUALITY IN UPTOWN TRUMAN COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS that students taking part in the Truman Environmental Intervention Project presented their findings recently at the college; and that the students studied the air, soil, plants, and people in Uptown in an effort to discover whether or not low-income and minority communities are used as dumping grounds by polluters and whether or not people living in those communities become ill as a result; and that the project is supported by Science Education for New Civic Engagements and Responsibilities (SENCER).

Respectfully submitted,

Wayne D. Watson
Chancellor
