Professor West Honored at Massachusetts General Hospital
MALCOLM X COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS that Professor George West of the Respiratory Care Program at Malcolm X College has been honored and was prominently featured on a large display on the wall of the main corridor at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, MA, to celebrate 60 years of respiratory care at this world renowned hospital. Professor West served as director of the department from 1976-83 while simultaneously serving on the faculty of Harvard Medical School. During that time, he also completed a term as President of the American Association for Respiratory Care. Presented during National Respiratory Care Week, the display highlighted some of the milestones in the evolution of respiratory therapy as a profession and the prominent role that Mr. West played in this evolution. The hospital sent him a smaller version of the display and a letter indicating the gratitude and fond memories that were mentioned by former co-workers and friends.

Respectfully submitted,

Wayne D. Watson
Chancellor
