NURSING GRADUATES, COLLEGE EARN HIGH PRAISE FROM EMPLOYER
TRUMAN COLLEGE

THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS that two graduates of the Truman Nursing program, Robert Cooper and Danny Choochongkol, have won high praise from their new employer, Weiss Hospital, where both took the clinical portion of their education; and that Robert has worked nights in Weiss' Intensive Care Unit since August 2007 and Danny has been working nights on the 3 South ward since January 2008; and that a hospital spokesman said, "Robert and Danny have made an impressive transition to staff nurse roles at Weiss Memorial Hospital. Robert is now a contributor to our new grad program. Both are a strong testament to the high quality of RN preparation offered by Truman."

Respectfully submitted,
