that on January 24, 2010 Malcolm X College, in partnership with the African Brotherhood Council, launched a mentorship program called the Kwanzaa Village Men of Action. The program will train as many upstanding black men, who are willing to mentor at least one African American boy between the ages of 12 – 18 years old, for one year through a ‘rites of passage’ curriculum. The curriculum will guide the mentor and the youth through the socially and culturally steps to become certified for adult responsibility.

Respectfully submitted,
