THE CHANCELLOR

REPORTS

that on October 15, 2010, fifty-five (55) Malcolm X College students participated in a Cadaver Workshop hosted by the Rush University Center for Undergraduate Research and the Advancement of Technological Education. Organized by faculty Dr. Sheila Wickes, the biology and anatomy students were exposed to learning biological structure and process with human specimens. Upon completion of the workshop, all fifty-five students were awarded certificates of completion.

Respectfully submitted,
