REPORTS

that the Continuing Education Department of Malcolm X College hosted the inaugural Future Leaders of Chicago Leadership Conference; in collaboration with Success is a Language, Inc. The day-long conference introduced the attendees to the process of achieving a college education. In addition, the students were exposed to tenets of success, including the power of personality, effective communication skills presented by the Zelda Robinson of the Higher Learning Network, and the habits of a healthy lifestyle presented by James Kenady of Children's Memorial Hospital. Seventy (70) high school students from throughout the community attended the conference.
