Updates/Unfinished Business:  SGA summer training

After attending the May Transition Summit, all Student Government Associations (SGAs) are required to participate in summer training sessions alongside their advisors. The training will cover topics such as leadership styles, complex management and various aspects of professional and personal development. These trainings should end in a retreat celebrating the new and incoming student leaders.

Announcements/New Business:

Professional development

I am currently in the process of training with Director Vania Doss and Michael Johns. We will start reviewing Robert's Rules and work on strengthening my leadership style and managing conflict resolution. I will also begin reviewing policies regarding the Board of City Colleges. In addition, I am Peer Leader working alongside the Director of First Year Experience at my home campus, Richard J. Daley, participating as a student mentor for students in our Summer Start program. I have also begun training with mentor and former Student Trustee: Yehuda Goldbloom.
