The Most Successful Community Hiring Initiative in the History of the City of Chicago!

The Chicago Advantage

It was nominated by the Mayor's Office of Workforce Development and the City Colleges of Chicago. And it won the Innovative Solutions Award at the Illinois Workforce Development Conference on October 25 in Springfield.

The award ceremony acknowledged that:

The Chicago Advantage (The Chicago Manufacturing Campus Workforce Project) is perhaps the most successful community hiring initiative in the history of the City of Chicago. The Chicago Advantage has been a multi-year collaboration between the Mayor's Office of Workforce Development, the City Colleges of Chicago, the Chicago Workforce Board, the Ford Motor Company, Comau Pico Service and twelve employers at the Chicago Manufacturing Campus. The District Office Supports Electronic Proposal Submission

The Fed Requires Electronic Submission

Many federal agencies are now requiring electronic submission of proposals. This includes the National Science Foundation, The U S Department of Education, and the National Institutes of Health. The City Colleges of Chicago has experience with submitting proposals to all of these agencies and the District Office of Grants and Contracts is prepared to help you submit a proposal.

When a college submits a proposal it is actually submitted by the Board of Trustees of Community College District # 508, County of Cook and State of Illinois (City Colleges of Chicago). Accordingly, the District has registered and activated accounts many federal agencies and their electronic proposal submission systems. These include FASTLANE (for the National Science Foundation), E-GRANTS (for the US Department of Education) and GRANTS.GOV (for many other federal agencies). The National Institutes of Health utilizes eRA Commons, in conjunction with GRANTS.GOV.

Basically, the procedure is as follows:

- The individual who is writing the proposal (and is usually given the title, Principal Investigator or PI) is granted access to the electronic system and given a username and a password (by the District Office).
- The PI develops the individual sections of the proposal and uploads them into the system. These can include documents which have been scanned.
- When the PI is finished, the proposal is electronically submitted to the SRO

(Senior Research Officer) or SA (Signing Authority) at the District Office. The PI should also complete a Grant Proposal Review Form (which is available on the District's Web-site or from the District Office). This form requires the President's signature, in accordance with District policy, and should be completed and submitted to the District Office (fax copies are fine) prior to the submission of the proposal.

- In most cases it is now the District's responsibility to review the proposal and either submit it to the Federal agency, with electronic signature, or return it to the PI for additional work.

Each of the systems (FASTLANE, E-GRANTS and GRANTS.GOV) is unique and operates somewhat differently from the others. So, particularly if you are new to electronic submission, contact the District Office early and allow plenty of time before the deadline to submit your proposal. Remember, in most cases the District Office must make the actual submission and your sufficient prior notice will help to ensure that we will be available.

For more information about electronic submission of proposals, contact Len Etlinger, District Director for Grants and Contracts: Tel 312.553.2752 or E-Mail letlinger@ccc.edu

Give and You Shall Receive

CCC Can Help You!

You can profit from your charitable donation. This might sound amazing, but it is an integral part of the IRS tax code in the US. And there are many approaches to select from. The simplest, of course, is a tax deductible donation. Each dollar that you contribute will not only support students and faculty at City Colleges of Chicago, but provide a tax deduction for you. But that is only one possibility. A gift of appreciated property or stock will provide a double dipping of tax saving since you will not have to pay the capital gains tax on the increased value and you will also receive a full charitable tax deduction on the market value of the property or stock at the time of the contribution.

Other possibilities include life insurance naming City Colleges as the policy owner/beneficiary (your premiums will be fully tax deductible) or a charitable remainder trust in which an asset is donated to CCC with earnings or use reserved for you for the remainder of your life.

Here are some examples:

Suppose Mr. Jones makes a tax deductible donation of $100,000 to CCC to help provide more computer access to students and faculty. Based on his income tax bracket, Mr. Lewis might reduce his total tax payments for this year by as much as $35,000.

If Mrs. Smith purchased stock years ago, with an investment of $10,000, the stock might have a market value today of $100,000. By donating the appreciated stock to CCC, Mrs. Kaplan will pay no tax on the gain in market value of the stock ($90,000) and she will receive a tax deduction on the full market value of the donation ($100,000). This could result in a tax savings, depending on Mrs. Kaplan's income tax rate, of as much as $35,000. Helping students and saving $35,000 - not bad for a $10,000 investment.

Mr. Simon has a $200,000 whole life insurance policy with a cash value of $100,000. Since his children are grown and successful and he and his wife are supported by his pension, he has little need for this policy. By making it a charitable gift to CCC, the tax savings from the $100,000 deduction could be as high as $35,000, depending on his tax bracket. And if he elected to continue to pay premiums, they would be deductible as well. And this gift could provide new equipment for laboratories at City Colleges of Chicago.

Suppose that Mrs. Johnson, who is 80 years old, owns a rental property which brings her $500 per month in income. By donating this property to the CCC Foundation, as a charitable remainder trust, CCC might be able to pay (depending on the market value of the property) Mrs. Johnson $1,000 per month, for the remainder of her life, and Mrs. Johnson still might be able to make a substantial tax saving from a tax deduction of a portion of the market value of the property. And this donation could allow CCC to develop new academic programs or provide new scholarships to students.

For more information about giving to CCC, contact Michael Mutz, Vice Chancellor for Development: Tel - 312.553.2780 or E-Mail - mmutz@ccc.edu

Grants and Contracts Monthly - August 2005

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

Computerized Basic Skills Instruction

One of the most serious problems in higher education today is the pervasiveness of students who require developmental programs in English and mathematics. Basic skills programs in higher education are unusually expensive in terms of staff time and effort and, at the same time, are extremely unproductive in terms of success rates for participating students.

Universities which serve predominately at-risk students (and which frequently serve large numbers of minority students) often graduate fewer than 25% of the entering freshman students; these same institutions frequently spend considerable amounts on staff who meet small classes and spend substantial time and effort in grading papers and providing individualized instructional support.

At the community college level this problem is extreme. Many colleges offer hundreds of sections of developmental mathematics and English classes each semester and the credit earned by those students who successfully complete these classes can not be used towards a baccalaureate or even an associate's degree.

Daley, Olive-Harvey and Wright Colleges are deploying the exciting Thomson Learning Equation (TLE) program as part of their Student Support Services grant funded efforts to try to improve the overall success of these "at-risk" students. TLE includes instructional modules in Basic Math, Pre-Algebra, Elementary Algebra and Intermediate Algebra. The project will utilize the services of an outside evaluator to assess the effectiveness of the TLE computerized learning for this population. Our next step, hopefully, will be to implement a computerized English basic skills program.

With grant funding and state-of-the-art technology and programs we hope to substantially improve the success rates for our students.

District Role in Grants and Contracts

The City Colleges is a single legal entity, officially named, Community College District No. 508, County of Cook and State of Illinois, and all of its operations, including acceptance of grant awards, are governed by its Board of Trustees and those rules made by the Board. The Board Rules includes the following section:

Section 5.11.1 of the Board Rules, Grants and Scholarships

Acceptance of grants, bequests, contributions, and scholarships, are subject to prior approval by the Board and when such approval is granted, the Chancellor is authorized to accept the grants, bequests, contributions or scholarships. Any such funds received shall be governed by the specific restrictions and limitations... In addition, the following general guidelines apply to all proposals which are submitted:

Matching Contributions

When a proposal includes a cash match or local contribution, either because this is required by the funding agency or to increase the chances of receiving funding, the source for this contribution must be identified and approved by the President of the College. The expenditure of these funds may be audited and accurate records must be kept to document the expenditure of matching funds.

In-Kind Contributions

In-kind contributions are resources, other than cash, which are contributed by the City Colleges of Chicago to the operation of a grant funded project. They frequently include the time/effort of staff, materials, supplies or services which are provided by CCC. When a funded proposal or grant agreement lists in-kind contributions, CCC is legally bound to provide them and can be audited. Accurate records must be kept to document the provision of all in-kind contributions. Faculty and staff time and effort must be documented and approved by a supervisor when a staff member is contributing a portion of his/her time to a funded project.

Indirect Costs

Indirect Costs are charged on grants and contracts to reimburse the City Colleges of Chicago for services which it provides which can not be charged as direct costs. For example, a portion of the college utilities bill, the accountant's salary or even a small piece of the College President's salary, for services related to the project, can not be accurately defined and itemized. Accordingly, it is common practice for funding agencies to allow an indirect cost, which might be, for example, 8% (the typical rate for CCC grant requests) of the total of all direct costs (those which are itemized in the grant budget). The indirect costs are a reimbursement to the college and will not be spent on the funded project unless the President specifically authorizes their use as a local contribution to the project. Unless disallowed by the funding agency or authorized as a local contribution by the College President, all proposals must request indirect costs!

Fringe Benefits

All grant proposals submitted by the City Colleges of Chicago must request fringe benefits. The exception would be a grant proposal which has no salary line in the budget. The current fringe benefit rate can be obtained by contacting the Office of Grants and Contracts (312.553.2752) and this pays for the employee's pension contributions, insurance, and related employment benefits. Although some benefits (like insurance) are usually not charged for part time employees, they will be charged when a full time employee receives a part time assignment to a funded project.

Documentation

One very important concern for those who operate grant funded projects is the proper documentation of activities, expenditures and time/effort devoted to the project. Even those efforts which are contributed by the college or district office can be audited if they are part of the proposal or negotiated agreement. Documenting the time and effort of individuals who have only part of their full time assignments with the funded project is particularly important.

NEW FACES AT THE DISTRICT OFFICE

Academic & Occupational Programs

Lydia Gonzalez is the new District Director of Academic & Occupational Programs. Ms. Gonzalez oversees the financial aspects of courses and programs at CCC, including responsibility for all district course and program approvals, through ICCB, IBHE and ISBE. Ms. Gonzales serves as liaison between ICCB and CCC's Information Technology department for course and program database maintenance. In addition, she facilitates communications between the colleges, the Faculty Council, the District administration and the Board of Trustees regarding curriculum development and curriculum standards.

Lydia has been with CCC since 1998, when she started as a contract employee. She became full time in 1999 as an Accounting Coordinator until that position was out-sourced to American Express. She worked with American Express as a Senior Grants Accountant for three years. In 2004 she became the Director of Auxilliary Services at Truman and, as of February 2005, she has been in her present position.

Lydia has a B.A. in Accounting which, along with summer internships at accounting firms, has been extremely important to her career.

SUMMER INTERN at 226

The District Office of Grants and Contracts has an extra pair of hands this summer. Ms. Barbara Haji is a graduate student at Chicago State University who will complete a Masters Degree in Educational Leadership in Higher Education this coming December. This summer she is doing an internship which involves 106 hours of field experience in community college administration and the completion of a project.

Barbara has worked on our start-up and implementation efforts for our five Student Support Services grant projects - at Daley, Malcolm X, Truman, Wright and Olive-Harvey. She is also working on a committee to develop a major proposal to the US Department of Labor for an Information Technology training grant. Barbara is getting some first hand insight into the complex environment of the District Office of the City Colleges of Chicago and the District Office of Grants and Contracts.

And, by the way, with an M.A. in Higher Education Administration in hand, Barbara will be looking for a job in the near future.

Any ideas?

BRIDGES TO BACCALAUREATE EXPANDS

The success of the initial Bridges to Baccalaureate grant received from the National Institute of Health paved the way for another very competitive grant to be awarded to the City Colleges of Chicago in 2004. To date six of the seven City Colleges hosts either a Center for Academic Success or BaBSC (Behavioral and Biomedical Science Core) where students interested in pursuing a career in the sciences can receive information about research opportunities available to them via the Bridges program. If selected to join the program students are given the opportunity to participate in actual research project at the University of Illinois @ Chicago under the supervision of actual scientists in top notch laboratories. The two NIH Bridges grants total $1.3M over the next three years.

Students in the Bridges grant have participated in professional meetings such as "Pathways to Scientific Excellence," NIH Midwest Regional Bridges Conferences for Students & faculty," and "Black on Black: Chancellors Urban Health and Diversity ." Presentations by CCC students made at these conference included:

- Lilly Odukoya (OH)- Sodium - Hydrogen Exchanges in the Epithelial Cells,
- Angella Bixby and Salome Ngatia (HWC)- Effect of Temperature on Heavy Metal Toxicity,
- Mirriel Tchemkou (Truman)- Isolation of DNA from Vaginal Wash."

Under the watchful eyes of Professors: Dr. Joseph Kyle - KKC, Dr. Ali Jafri - MXC, Dr. Tom Kodogeorgiou - DA, Dr. Uthman Erogbogbo - HW, Dr. Yvonne Harris - TR, and Dr. Farouk Asadi - OH, the Bridges students are provided invaluable educational opportunities to receive quality preparation. After graduation they plan to transfer to a university and successfully compete with their peers in the field of science or medicine.

Student Support Services

The City Colleges of Chicago has been informed that five of the colleges (Olive-Harvey, Malcolm X, Truman, Wright, and Daley) will be receiving major awards from the US Department of Education to support the educational success of students who might, otherwise, be at-risk of not completing degrees or programs. These awards, which average more than $200,000 per year, will provide four or five years of funding to each college.

The colleges will focus on tutoring services and supplemental instruction in mathematics and English writing, reading and speaking skills. In addition, services will be provided for advisement and counseling, support for transfers to universities and other areas such as goal setting, stress management, study skills and other areas. Several of the colleges are identifying a portion of their project resources for the implementation of an exciting program of computerized mathematics and English instructional support.

House Passes Bill That Would Authorize New Grants to Community Colleges

Community colleges could receive new federal job-training grants (as much as $250 million) under a bill which was approved by the U.S. House of Representatives on March 2. According to Kelly Field of The Chronicle of Higher Education, The Job Training Improvement Act (HR 27), would renew, or reauthorize, the Workforce Investment Act of 1998, which governs a multibillion program in the Labor Department. A provision in the bill would authorize grants to two-year institutions to work with businesses and local work-force-investment boards to provide job training in high-growth, high-skill fields with labor shortages. Half of that money would come from what is referred to as a "pilot and demonstration" account in the bill, and half would come from national reserve funds for worker-training programs. As an authorizing measure, the legislation would not actually provide the funds it describes. For the money to be spent, Congress would have to pass a separate appropriations bill. The bill would also allow governors, in consultation with state work-force-investment boards, to determine how much community colleges should contribute to the administrative costs of one-stop career centers, which provide labor-market information, job counseling, and training referrals to job seekers. Under current law, all "program partners" that use the centers decide how much each user will contribute to such costs. Community-college officials say they have sometimes been pressured to ante up what they consider an unfair share of the costs of running the centers. Community-college lobbyists fear that the proposed payment change would divert resources from other job-training programs they participate in. The bill would also give governors leeway to determine how colleges could meet the legislation's reporting requirements. They say stringent reporting requirements have discouraged some colleges from participating in the federal programs. A Senate committee is expected to take up a companion bill within the next two months.

Patriotic Programs - Funded Efforts to Improve Our Community

Funded programs to help Chicago...

The City Colleges of Chicago is working to improve our community through a series of funding initiatives:

The Compassion Capital Fund

The District Office has submitted a proposal to the US Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Family Services for a Compassion Capital Fund Demonstration Project grant. The proposal requests nearly $3 million for a three year period to be used to strengthen the capacity of local faith-based and community organizations to provide critical community services. Included in this grant will be a sub-award competition in which the District Office will issue grants to local faith - based and community organizations.

National Youth Sports Programs

Four of our colleges are participating in a series of summer sports programs for children ages 10 to 18 for the period from June through August, 2004.

Federal funds which are coordinated through the NCAA and provided for "Youth Education through Sports" programs have been approved for:

- Kennedy-King College ($80,500)
- Daley College ($83,000)
- Olive-Harvey College ($86,500)
- Malcolm X College ($95,000)

In addition, The City Colleges of Chicago has requested funding of $265,485 from the Illinois State Board of Education to provide food services (lunch and snacks) for participants of Summer, 2004 National Youth Sports Programs.

Foster Parent Training

Harold Washington College is, once again, the choice of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services as the exclusive provider of foster parent training activities for residents of the City of Chicago.

Truants' Education Program

The City Colleges of Chicago has, once again, been selected by the Illinois State Board of Education for a unique partnership between public, private and community-based organizations designed to provide alternative educational programs and services to reclaimed youth, 16-21 years old, who have dropped out of high school. From nearly $2 million in funding a variety of diploma programs and GED programs will be awarded subcontracts by the City Colleges of Chicago.

Workforce Development

The City Colleges of Chicago receives federal, state and local funds for workforce development and career and technical education. The district anticipates receiving awards for the support of occupational training programs of nearly $4.5 million, including Federal Tech Prep and Carl D. Perkins Title III and a variety of employee training program awards including a Workforce Development Grant of $275,000 from the Illinois Community College Board to support business and industry service programs at all of the colleges

Child Care Services

Major local, state, federal and private funding helps the City Colleges provide child care for students and train child care professionals. For example, the Community Services Agreement with the Illinois Department of Human Services will provide nearly $250,000 for the District Office to support the Site Administered Child Care Programs, and $500,000 for the Developmental Disabilities Programs at Harold Washington College. The Child Care Assistant Program will employ CCC Child Development Studies students to work in child care centers in the Chicago area and will be supported by the Centers for New Horizons. The Joyce Foundation of Chicago has provided substantial funding the training of child care professionals in Chicago and the Federal CCAMPIS grant and subcontracts from the Chicago Public Schools provides major support for college based child care.

Adult Education

Through a series of state and federal grants which total nearly $15 million, the City Colleges of Chicago will provide Adult Basic Education and English as a Second Language instruction at all seven colleges including programs in civics and instructional services for public assistance clients.

Summer's Here - Start the New Fiscal Year Set Up New Grant Accounts Properly

New and Continuing Awards...

With the start of the new fiscal year all continuing grant awards and new fiscal year awards must be established in proposal panel of our PeopleSoft financial system. Here are some reminders:

- Please verify all grant-specific data including the beginning and ending dates of the funded period, actual award amounts, funding category totals, etc.
- Identify all grant requirements including dates for report submissions, allowed maximum for categorical transfers without written authorization, liquidation period (if any), etc.
- Prepare a system to document all required matching contributions (both cash matches and in-kind matches) and all shared utilization of staff; if an individual works on a project in addition to a regular position or on more than one funded project, then time and effort must be documented.

Carl Perkins Funded Project Update

The Office of Career and Technical Education (CTE) in partnership with the Provident Foundation has started Future Doctors and Future Nurses Clubs at 4 Chicago Public High Schools: Carver High School, DuSable High School, Hyde Park Career Academy, and South Shore High School. The clubs were started this spring 2004 semester, and approximately 100 students participate. The students actively participate in the club activities and are excited about learning about their healthcare career choices. The students want to make a difference in their community. The meetings are held at the high schools and the teachers participate in the sessions with the students. The students are encouraged to perform well in mathematics and science classes, and are taught career paths for the various healthcare positions. In May 2004, the CTE staff at CCC will visit all four clubs and talk exclusively about the healthcare career paths offered at the City Colleges of Chicago. The sessions will focus on education, workforce opportunities, and industry data. A culminating activity is planned for the students participating in the clubs for June 11th, 2004. Students, parents, and school officials will be invited to this event.

Illinois Resource Development Commission

ANNUAL CONFERENCE top of page

The annual conference of the Illinois Resource Development Commission will be in Springfield on September 30 and October 1, 2004 at the Crown Plaza Hotel. It promises to be a worthwhile venture with sessions being planned in both public and private funding tracks. The conference will include opportunities for networking and round table discussions and it is anticipated that presenters will represent the Illinois Community College Board as well as some federal agencies and private foundations.

Put these dates on your calendar - registration materials will be provided to the District Grant Coordinating Council representative at each college as soon as they are available.

Bridges to the Baccalaureate top of page

The District has now received funding to support "Bridges" projects at each college. The funding has been provided by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The goal of these projects is to prepare and support minority students for transition to biomedical programs at the University of Illinois at Chicago. Total funding of over $1.2 million has been provided for two separate three-year grants.

Indirect Cost Rate Established top of page

The District has a new indirect cost rate which has been negotiated with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services as the cognizant agency for the federal government. This rate of 60% applies to all grants from federal agencies and should be utilized in applications to state agencies which allow indirect costs as part of the grant budget. The 60% indirect costs will be calculated on direct costs for salaries and wages, excluding fringe benefits. The purpose of indirect cost recovery from grants and contracts relates to the use of District resources which can't be charged as a direct cost to a grant funded project, but which represent actual costs to the District. Examples would include a portion of the utilities costs of the colleges, the accountants who process the checks and oversee the operation of the grant or a portion of the salary of an Administrator who supervises the grant project staff but is not included in the budget as project staff. The District can be reimbursed by the funding agency for these "indirect costs" which can not be itemized in the project budget.

At the City Colleges of Chicago, the rules for the utilization of indirect costs include:

- All indirect costs from grants to the City Colleges of Chicago will be transferred to an indirect costs recovery account (ICR) at the District Office or the College, depending on the origination of the grant. The indirect costs will be charged to the grant account and deposited into the ICR account as the salaries are expended from the grant.
- These funds are not to be spent at the discretion of the project's director and expenditures from these funds are neither part of the funded project nor audited under the regular grant audit process.
- At the end of a grant period if a grant is not fully expended and funds are returned to the funding agency, a proportional portion of the indirect costs will be returned as well.
- All expenditures from the indirect costs recovery account will be approved by the College President (Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs for the District Office ICR); The development of new funding possibilities should be a high priority for the use of these funds.

- Funds in the indirect costs recovery account will not lapse at the end of any funded project's grant period and will not lapse at the end of any City College of Chicago fiscal year.
- Expenditure of funds from the indirect costs recovery account must satisfy all regulations which apply to the expenditure of funds by the Board of Trustees of the City Colleges of Chicago.

Community College Development Lessons From CRD

Did you know that the annual average of gifts to community colleges, for 2001-02, was $1.2 million?

Or did you know that U.S. foundations gave 124,844 grants in 2001 for a total of nearly $17 billion?

Or that foundations are required to donate 5% of their net investment assets each year?

The Council for Resource Development held its Region V (our region) and Region VII conference (June 11 - 13) at the Oak Brook Hyatt Regency Hotel. CRD is an organization specializing in resource development issues (both gift and grant related) at the nearly 1600 community colleges in the US. Staff members of the City Colleges of Chicago who participated included:

- Austin Ferguson, Jr., Olive-Harvey
- Joyce Butler, Kennedy-King
- Len Etlinger, District Office
- Maretha Roberts, Olive-Harvey

Scaling Up Chicago's K-16 Partnership: A Comprehensive View of Articulation

has been funded by the U.S. Department of Education's Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education (FIPSE) for the second year of a three year project which will redesign articulation efforts in Chicago so as to align standards and improve disciplinary and interdisciplinary communications for K-16 faculty.

On Thursday, January 23, the District hosted a luncheon workshop with its Project Align partners at the Greek Islands Restaurant. The project, which aims to ensure the college readiness of Chicago Public School graduates, is being piloted in five Chicago area high schools.

The partner group included staff from the Chicago Public Schools, the City Colleges of Chicago, the University of Illinois at Chicago, Northeastern Illinois University and Roosevelt University. The goal of the meeting was to discuss aligning project goals, curriculum objectives, assessment measurements. During the meeting, project staff also reviewed project accomplishments in student achievement and success at the postsecondary level.

Title III - Title V Eligibility Applications

Reminder:
Eligibility Applications Due

Title III and Title V Programs - Request for FY 2006 Designation as an Eligible Institution.

You must be designated an "eligible" institution before applying for funding under Title III Part A and Title V of the Higher Education Act (HEA) of 1965, as amended, which includes these programs:

- Strengthening Institutions Program
- American Indian Tribally Controlled Colleges and Universities
- Alaska Native-Serving Institutions Program
- Native Hawaiian-Serving Institutions Program
- Developing Hispanic-Serving Institutions Program

NOTE: It is necessary that each of our colleges be in one of these categories:

- Institutions that will apply for Title III Part A or Title V funding for FY 2006 must have applied for eligibility by February 24, 2006.
- Institutions filing a waiver of cost sharing for Title IV and Title VI must have applied for eligibility by June 15, 2006.

The failure of even one college of being designated as an "eligible" institution can cost the District a substantial amount of money (possibly more than $500,000) in the payment of the local share of the Title IV or Title VI "work-study" payments for students

The electronic FY 2006 eligibility application is easy to submit and the Web site for it the is: <http://webprod.cbmiweb.com/title3and5/index.html>

In addition, text versions are available also in MS Word (5.79MB) or PDF (289K). The District will provide the necessary data to the colleges at a meeting of the District Grant Coordinating Council on February 1, 2006. If a college does not qualify, based on the processing of the data provided, the college will have to submit a written request for a waiver. The District Office can help with this if given sufficient time.

The deadlines for submitting a Title III, part A application or Title V grant application have not yet been published, but will probably be late in March or in April. Please call the District Office of Grants and Contracts if you would like the help of a consultant who is experienced in obtaining this funding. These proposals require institutional planning and must be started several months in advance!

The members of the District Grant Coordinating Council have the responsibility to ensure that each college has submitted the electronic Request for FY 2006 Designation as an Eligible Institution and, if necessary, the request for a waiver. Submission of the grant applications is optional for each college.

The District Grant Coordinating Council will be meeting in Room 1341 of the District Office on February 1, 2006 to discuss Title III/Title V eligibility and other issues pertaining to grant and contract funding. The members or the DGCC, appointed by the president of each college to represent the college on matters pertaining to grant and contract funding, are:

The Most Successful Community Hiring Initiative in the History of the City of Chicago!

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

The State of Illinois and the City of Chicago worked to put together an extensive redevelopment package to bring the manufacturing campus model to Chicago and to ensure that Ford and its suppliers would remain in Illinois for the next half-century. The Chicago Manufacturing Campus is an innovative new manufacturing partnership.

The redevelopment package assisted the suppliers in opening high-tech facilities co-located literally across the street from Ford's Chicago Assembly Plant on the city's far south side. This co-location allows for just-in-time manufacturing in which needed parts are supplied in minutes rather than days or weeks. Shipping, warehousing and logistics challenges are reduced; money is saved; and most importantly, jobs are created.

Chicago Advantage was a central component of the CMC. The Chicago Advantage Project involved in-depth assessments of each employer's unique worker needs and identification of thousands of job-seeking candidates from throughout Chicago. It utilized highly responsive and flexible business services to identify exact hiring dates and deliver job-ready workers "just-in-time". The project performed interviewing and assessment of those candidates and provided post-hiring training of newly hired workers.

According to Dr. Bill McMillan, Associate Vice Chancellor for Workforce Development,

The Chicago Advantage project matched individuals with required job skills and filled nearly 1400 jobs with Chicago residents.

The project ensured that local workers were placed in these jobs, that the manufacturers were supplied with a quality workforce and that the new CMC could become a key business success model for Illinois.

Indirect Cost Rate Negotiated

The District has negotiated a new indirect cost rate for all grant funded projects. This new rate is 55% of salaries, not including fringe benefits. As a reminder of the District's policy:

All indirect costs from grants to the City Colleges of Chicago will be transferred to an indirect costs recovery account (ICR) at the District Office or the College, depending on the origination of the grant (if the District Office has assumed proposal development costs for a College proposal - it will receive 50% of the indirect costs should the grant be funded). The indirect costs will be charged to the grant account and deposited into the ICR account as funds are expended from the grant. These funds are not to be spent at the discretion of the project's director and expenditures from these funds are neither part of the funded project nor audited under the regular grant audit process.

- At the end of a grant period if a grant is not fully expended and funds are returned to the funding agency, a proportional amount of the indirect costs will be returned as well.
- All expenditures from the indirect costs recovery account will be approved by the College President (Executive Vice Chancellor for the District Office ICR); the development of new funding possibilities should be a high priority for the use of these funds.
- Funds in the indirect costs recovery account will not lapse at the end of any grant period or fiscal year.
- Expenditure of funds from the indirect costs recovery account must satisfy all regulations which apply to the expenditure of funds by the Board of Trustees of the City Colleges of Chicago.
- All grant proposals will utilize our current negotiated indirect cost rate (55% of direct labor costs or 8% of the total direct costs, as allowed by the funding agency) in the indirect costs line item unless;
- the funding agency expressly prohibits the charge of indirect costs (efforts should be made to identify appropriate institutional direct costs for reimbursement to the City Colleges of Chicago);

- the College President or Executive Vice Chancellor has agreed to waive all, or a portion of, the indirect costs as a local contribution to the funded project; or
- other arrangements have been made with the funding agency and approved by the College President or Executive Vice Chancellor.

An innovative approach was used to distribute these awards. All Illinois colleges were invited to send an e-mail briefly stating the environmental changes that would be addressed on their campuses. Colleges that were selected to receive the funding were required to attend a one-day training/workshop at which they were provided basic environmental prevention information. They also received technical assistance to complete a work plan to implement their goals. Individualized technical assistance will be ongoing throughout the course of the grants.

Campus Alcohol and Traffic Safety Conference

"Driving Home Safety on Campus"

The Illinois Higher Education Center and the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Traffic Safety, invite you to attend the twelfth annual statewide Campus Alcohol and Traffic Safety (CATS) Conference entitled "Driving Home Safety on Campus." It will focus on the prevention of problems related to alcohol, other drugs (AOD) and traffic safety issues on college campuses. It will be held February 22nd, 23rd, and 24th at the Springfield Hilton Hotel.

The goal of the 2004 Conference is to provide college alcohol and other drug prevention teams throughout the state of Illinois with state of the art prevention information. This information will focus on models for creating and sustaining healthy and safe learning, living and driving environments for campus and community members. This year's conference will emphasize environmental management strategies.

All colleges and universities across Illinois are invited to send ten (10) campus representatives to the conference for a registration fee of $100.00 per school. Appropriate representatives from your college might include: administrators, students, campus police/security personnel, department heads, faculty, counselors, and health/wellness staff. Preventionists from community-based agencies who work with college teams may also attend. Cost per agency is $50.00 for up to three (3) people. Lodging and meals (2 breakfasts and 2 lunches) will be provided for each participant.

Commuter Students

Reprinted with permission from the BACCHUS/GAMMA website: www.bacchusgamma.org.

Most peer educator groups find it a challenge to reach "commuter" students. We are always trying to find ways to involve commuters and have programs that will meet their needs. To reach commuters we have to make a special effort to give them services and education "on the go."

- Provide lots of places where students can pick up information to read and learn on their own, such as pamphlet racks.
- Be sure to place posters in classrooms, since commuters are on campus mainly to attend class.
- Hand out information in the parking lots as students leave campus. Write on the pavement or place large displays in the parking lots.
- Give out information and/or freebies at the bookstore and library, such as a free bookmark with all new book purchases or library book checkouts.
- Enclose information with financial aid checks or any other campus mailing.
- Provide programs during class changes and late in the evening. Host snack breaks with mocktails for commuters.
- Raffle off parking spaces in close proximity to campus.
- Place yard signs in the parking lots with healthy messages on them, such as, "We are glad you are here! Buckle up and come back."

- Ask public safety and parking if you can give out information (even key chains) with all parking passes.
- Wipe off the windshields of cars in the parking lot and leave a message on the windshield, such as "we have washed your window, so you can plainly see, that drinking and driving doesn't mix."
- Ask for a weekly column in the campus newspaper; run information in the classified ads.
- Start a cartoon series in the newspaper that sends a prevention message.
- Offer events and programs where family members are encouraged to attend.
- Give discounts to local amusement parks, bowling alleys, mini-golf, etc.
- Have a "Natural High" day on campus with a cookout, rock climbing wall, jousting, bungee jumping, music, etc.
- Enlist the faculty in promoting programs in classes, giving class credit for attendance, etc.
- Promote events creatively where students travel/walk. Use costume characters, pass out balloons, chalk sidewalks, etc.
- Offer a day of personal wellness with massages, free haircuts, fitness testing and makeovers.
- Utilize "book buy back" times to promote your health messages. Serve hot chocolate and donuts to people standing in lines. Serve drinks in cups printed with healthy messages.
- Pass out helpful car items when you promote events, such as ice scrapers, cup holders, license plate holders, etc.

December 2003

More Suggestions for Reaching Commuter Students from IHEC

- Work with campus security to do a seatbelt survey on campus. Hand out candy or fast food coupons to students who are wearing their seatbelts.
- Participate in a campus-community coalition that targets injury prevention in your community.
- Choose a 3 D Month activity and implement it on campus.
- Use sporting events and holidays (Super Bowl, March Madness, St. Patrick's Day, etc.) to launch safe driving campaigns.
- Bring a team of students and staff to CATS!

President Bush Advances Faith-Based Initiative

With the endorsement of President Bush, the White House Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives has proposed changes to several regulations that would make it easier for faith-based groups to access federal funding. One change finalized by the White House bans faith-based groups from using federal money for "inherently religious activity such as worship, religious instruction, or proselytization," while leaving room for such groups to include some religious content in their work. If all the proposed rule changes are finalized, faith-based groups would be allowed to make hiring decisions based on a job candidate's faith and could receive forfeited assets, including real estate, under the same restrictions as secular groups.

The Top 10 Reasons Grant Proposals Get Rejected

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

Metasoft Systems Inc., a leading fundraising support corporation, with experience in servicing over 3,000 non-profit clients and close contact with thousands of foundation and corporate funders, has given us unique insight into the key reasons for proposal rejection (particularly appropriate for proposals to foundations and corporations). The following "Top 10 Rejection Reasons" list is culled from their experience:

1. Poor fit: Foundations and corporations want to know that a non-profit has thought about their funding priorities and how their interests converge. If your organization and its project needs don't match up tightly with the funding interests and giving history of a foundation or corporation, your chances of receiving a grant will be very low indeed.
2. Guidelines not adhered to: When a foundation says it wants 12 point font and sets a limit of no more than 20 pages, they mean it. It is vital that you respect the formatting guidelines of the donor. To do otherwise will almost always result in your proposal being swiftly directed to the garbage can.
3. Timing: Application deadlines are usually tied to foundation or corporate board meetings. If your proposal is sent in late it reflects poorly on your organization's time management capabilities.
4. Outcomes not provided: Government funders, foundations and corporate donors are increasingly asking non-profits to demonstrate the potential outcomes or benefits of their grant proposal. Besides showing the direct benefit or your work, include information about the positive impact on the community as a whole, as well as any potential benefits for the future.
5. Duplication of service: Being unique is one of those intangibles that sparks the interest of donors, so you must attempt to differentiate or distinguish yourself from other service providers. Outline clearly how your programs differ from others; present any unique demographic or constituencies you represent; detail changes to your program over time; and explain how the funds will help to address emerging social needs.

6. Blanket proposals or fishing expeditions: These kinds of proposals tell a funder that you don't care about their time or background - and grant officers are expert at spotting them. Granters donate, they do not speculate.
7. Sustainability not anticipated: Every class of donor wants to see that some thought, planning and strategic analysis has been undertaken that shows your organization is aiming for greater self-sufficiency. Sustainability runs parallel to the development of funding relationships and partnerships. Many donors will ask flat out: how do you plan to sustain this initiative over time?
8. Unrealistic expectations: A non-profit organization needs to assess which foundation is more likely to fund larger requests. A small foundation may have a history of giving grants in the $5,000 range. This would not be the right foundation to ask for a million dollars. It also takes time to build an ongoing relationship with a donor, particularly when you're asking for a great deal of money. Just because your cause is important does not make your organization their highest funding priority.
9. Inaccurate, vague or generally poor writing: Errors in financial accounting, for example, gravely undermine your credibility. Vague or inaccurate proposals also make it difficult for a grant officer to review and evaluate your proposal, even though they may see huge value in what you do. Try to keep in mind that a successful proposal will engage the reader and hold their interest, while demonstrating a compelling reason why your organization should be supported.
10. No donor recognition: Many donors - particularly corporate donors - will want to know how their contribution will be appreciated or recognized. This increases their confidence that recognition for their contribution will be forthcoming. Overlooking donor recognition is one of the most common and easy to avoid errors.

Foster PRIDE/Adopt PRIDE

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

Did you know that Harold Washington College is the sole provider of foster parent training in Cook County?

Prospective foster parents are required to take 27 hours of training and licensed foster parents are required to participate in continuing training to maintain their licenses. Harold Washington College has provided foster parent training for the last 14 years and currently is the exclusive provider of this training for Cook County. The Foster Parent Training Program has 15 curricula for foster parents (adoptive, prospective, and licensed - to meet special needs of the children such as sexual abuse, working with biological families, discipline issues, handicaps, etc.). The program also can provide access to audio and video training modules.

During the last four years, HWC's Foster Parent Training Program has provided training at churches, libraries, social services agencies, park district facilities and YMCA's throughout the Cook County to an average of 5500 licensed and prospective foster parents per year.

The program works closely with child welfare agencies to ensure that proper training for licensing requirements is provided. The program has formed partnerships with over 30 child welfare agencies in cook county.

Ms. Cheryl A. Wiley, the Director of Foster Parent Training for Harold Washington College, has been providing child welfare services for 18 years including case work and supervision (she was a case worker and statewide trainer for DCFS - the Department of Children and Family Services). Ms. Wiley taught the foster parent curriculum for five years before accepting her current position at Harold Washington, in which she has served for over three years. Ms. Wiley has a B.A. degree in criminal justice and an M.A. degree in psychology, both from Illinois State University.

Ms. Wiley says that... "In this Foster Parent Training Program, Harold Washington College is doing something truly important for the children and families of Cook County who are part of the foster care system. I continue to find this work to be rewarding and gratifying."

District Role in Grants and Contracts

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

The City Colleges is a single legal entity, officially named, Community College District No. 508, County of Cook and State of Illinois, and all of its operations, including acceptance of grant awards, are governed by its Board of Trustees and those rules made by the Board. The Board Rules, most recently adopted on September 6, 2001, includes the following section:

Section 5.11.1 of the Board Rules, Grants and Scholarships

Acceptance of grants, bequests, contributions, and scholarships, are subject to prior approval by the Board and when such approval is granted, the Chancellor is authorized to accept the grants, bequests, contributions or scholarships. Any such funds received shall be governed by the specific restrictions and limitations...

In addition, the following general guidelines apply to all proposals which are submitted:

Matching Contributions

When a proposal includes a cash match or local contribution, either because this is required by the funding agency or to increase the chances of receiving funding, the source for this contribution must be identified and approved by the President of the College. The expenditure of these funds may be audited and accurate records must be kept to document the expenditure of matching funds.

In-Kind Contributions

In-kind contributions are resources, other than cash, which are contributed by the City Colleges of Chicago to the operation of a grant funded project. They frequently include the time/effort of staff, materials, supplies or services which are provided by CCC. When a funded proposal or grant agreement lists in-kind contributions, CCC is legally bound to provide them and can be audited. Accurate records must be kept to document the provision of all in-kind contributions. Faculty and staff time and effort must be documented and approved by a supervisor when a staff member is contributing a portion of his/her time to a funded project.

Indirect Costs

Indirect Costs are charged on grants and contracts to reimburse the City Colleges of Chicago for services which it provides which can not be charged as direct costs. For example, a portion of the college utilities bill, the accountant's salary or even a small piece of the College President's salary, for services related to the project, can not be accurately defined and itemized. Accordingly, it is common practice for funding agencies to allow an indirect cost, which might be, for example, 8% (the typical rate for CCC grant requests) of the total of all direct costs (those which are itemized in the grant budget). The indirect costs are a reimbursement to the college and will not be spent on the funded project unless the President specifically authorizes their use as a local contribution to the project.

Unless disallowed by the funding agency or authorized as a local contribution by the College President, all proposals must request indirect costs!

Fringe Benefits

All grant proposals submitted by the City Colleges of Chicago must request fringe benefits. The exception would be a grant proposal which has no salary line in the budget. The current fringe benefit rate can be obtained by contacting the Office of Grants and Contracts (312.553.2752) and this pays for the employee's pension contributions, insurance, and related employment benefits. Although some benefits (like insurance) are usually not charged for part time employees, they will be charged when a full time employee receives a part time assignment to a funded project.

Documentation

One very important concern for those who operate grant funded projects is the proper documentation of activities, expenditures and time/effort devoted to the project. Even those efforts which are contributed by the college or district office can be audited if they are part of the proposal or negotiated agreement. Documenting the time and effort of individuals who have only part of their full time assignments with the funded project is particularly important.

Community College Development Lessons From CRD

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

Did you know that the annual average of gifts to community colleges, for 2001-02, was $1.2 million?

Or did you know that U.S. foundations gave 124,844 grants in 2001 for a total of nearly $17 billion?

Or that foundations are required to donate 5% of their net investment assets each year?

The Council for Resource Development held its Region V (our region) and Region VII conference (June 11 - 13) at the Oak Brook Hyatt Regency Hotel. CRD is an organization specializing in resource development issues (both gift and grant related) at the nearly 1600 community colleges in the US. Staff members of the City Colleges of Chicago who participated included:

- Austin Ferguson, Jr., Olive-Harvey
- Joyce Butler, Kennedy-King
- Len Etlinger, District Office
- Maretha Roberts, Olive-Harvey

The conference was packed with many learning and networking opportunities for all resource development professionals, including break out sessions for grants and foundation specialists, plenary sessions, and a one-day National Science Foundation workshop for faculty members.

Participants gained tips on how to develop proposals to the NSF, how to solicit charitable remainder trusts for the foundation and how to set up quasi-endowments for the college.

The conference also included sessions on strategic planning for a development campaign, demographics of donors, uses of donated funds and technical information about planned giving, bequests, life estates, life insurance, direct mail and telephone campaigns and special fundraising programs.

Did you know that the term endowment came from the word dowry?

... and how an endowment differs from a partial endowment or a term endowment or a quasi-endowment? Endowment funds are extremely important to college fundraising because the principal can't be spent - it is always there to earn for the college.

Two interesting pie charts illustrated the breakdown of both sources and uses for gifts to colleges in the US and another interesting chart compares donors by race: View charts

Dip-Pen Nanolithography

"A grant for even $2,000 or $20,000 can provide us with the capacity to implement a project or program which is over & above the routine function of the colleges."

- Deidra J. Lewis VC-Academic Affairs

Higgins gets research award for HWC.

Dr. Thomas Higgins of Harold Washington College has been awarded a research grant from the Air Force Office of Scientific Research. The award is $130,000 a year for three years of continuing funding.

Dr. Higgins will study how Dip-Pen Nanolithography can be used to pattern nano-scale molecular inks on a variety of inorganic insulating, conducting and semi-conducting surfaces. This work is motivated by the need to develop new technologies in the areas of corrosion inhibition, molecular electronics and chemical sensors. Northwestern University will be serving as a subcontractor on the funded research grant. In addition the project will provide summer research opportunities for City Colleges of Chicago undergraduate students.

Dip-Pen Nanolithography (DPN) is a scanning probe nanopatterning technique in which an AFM (Atomic Force Microscope) tip is used to deliver molecules to a surface via a solvent meniscus, which naturally forms in the ambient atmosphere. This direct-write technique offers high-resolution patterning capabilities for a number of molecular and biomolecular 'inks' on a variety of substrate types such as metals, semiconductors, and monolayer functionalized surfaces.

The ability to achieve precise alignment registration of multiple patterns is an additional advantage earned by using an AFM tip to write, as well as read nanoscopic features on a surface. These attributes of DPN make it a valuable tool for studying fundamental issues in colloid, surface science, and nanotechnology, for instance diffusion and capillarity on a surface at the nanometer level, organization and crystallization of particles onto chemical or biomolecular templates, monolayer etching resists for semiconductors, and nanometer-sized tethered polymer structures.

Plan now to join your Region V (our region) and Region VII colleagues for this two-plus days packed with many learning and networking opportunities for all resource development professionals, including break out sessions for grants and foundation specialists, plenary sessions, and a one-day National Science Foundation workshop for faculty members. The conference begins with lunch on Wednesday and concludes in mid afternoon Friday. The conference hotel is directly across from Oak Brook Center which features some of the Chicago area's best shopping and dining, and nearby Brookfield Zoo may bring out the animal, or the child, in you!

CRD's Region V includes Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Ontario, Canada. Region VII includes Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska. The two regions are getting together for a really great conference which will include (with separate registration options):

- a one day National Science Foundation Proposal Writing Workshop (June 12)
- a mini-conference for the Illinois Resource Development Commission (IRDC - June 11, morning)
- separate foundation and grants tracks
- a closing general session on June 13, Finessing Foundation Funds, with representatives from our own grantors, the Joyce Foundation and the McCormick Tribune Foundation.

Contact your DGCC Representative for more information including registration forms.
